Information about who you are, here you may focus on your skills and good qualities, information about what benefit will you bring to the company and your career objectives.

I am an enthusiastic, highly motivated person within the luxury hotel sector who enjoys a challenge and achieving personal goals. My present career goal is to work with tourism because I enjoy working with people, I love the customer service and I find the work interesting and satisfying. The opportunity to learn new things and work with new people is very interesting to me.
